WEARY WAITING.

Oh, the agony of waiting is anxious, dread and suspense. When pulses throb at fever heat, with heartstrings strained and tense. When the mind is in a state of apprehension—when an undeveloped word, a single thought, can never comfort, the foot-sore heart breaks.

When it is even "would I were married," when the eye is strained to aching and weary. When the voice grows weak and weary, when the soul oppressed and saddened for hours together. When hours pass from moment to eve with tears blurred.

On the promise of fulfillment made in His Sacred Word.

That weary waiting will have reward if we knock and step are here.

—Cath. W. Bryan, in Good Housekeeping.

THAT RARE ENGRAVING.

A Story of Mr. and Mrs. Clever's Wedding Anniversary.

"Beautiful!" said Mr. Clever, exclaiming.

"Regular!" echoed Mrs. Clever, standing on tiptoe, to peep over her husband's shoulder.

"Who's the artist?" said Mr. Clever, passing his fingers over the picture.

"Donnaveit, of Rome," responded some one who chanced to be nearer the sight.

"And what's the subject?" demanded Mr. Clever, who, being a business man, was quickly posted in pointe form.

"A lady dressed in white," said Mrs. Clever.

"'Ophelia!'" interposed Mrs. Clever, breathlessly.

"Yes," said her husband, "from Shakespeare? 'King Lear' isn't it?"

"Hum!" said Mrs. Clever.

"Oh, you're right, my dear husband," she said, "I knew it must be in some of those 'melodies.'

"What's the date?" asked Mr. Clever.

"It's the 15th of February," said Mrs. Clever.

"What's the name?" asked Mr. Clever.

"'Memoria' copy in gold," said Mrs. Clever, loftily, "which wasn't for a hundred dollars."

"You bid me no more," said Mr. Clever.

"But you unfortunately Donnaveit, of Rome, died twenty-two years ago," said Mr. Clever, with a sigh.

"I can't afford it," said Mrs. Clever.

"I could import it, if I paid for it," said Mrs. Clever.

"I'd pay for it," said Mr. Clever.

"I'd pay for it," said Mrs. Clever.

"I don't mind the expense," asserted Mr. Clever, loftily, "which wasn't for a hundred dollars."

"I'll pay for it," said Mrs. Clever.

"Well, I'll pay for it," said Mr. Clever.

"I'll pay for it," said Mrs. Clever.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce,

John C. Green, Esq., candidate for the U. S. Circuit Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Mr. Dickson has introduced a bill concerning militia powers upon conductors of trains. It is an excellent bill and ought to pass.

Meers, C. C. Green and Sam W.
Compton are preparing to open a part of Providence, the first number of which will appear in a few days.

Draconian floods in the lower Mississippi Valley have driven hundreds of people from their homes and it is estimated that not less than fifty persons have been drowned. A large area of country is under water.

The trouble between cattlemen and "rustlers" in Wyoming has assumed such warlike proportions that troops have been ordered out to restore tranquility.
Several hundred men are in arms and a number have been killed on both sides.

President H. A. Sommers will not go with the party to the National Press meeting at San Francisco, but has decided to "gallop with the gang" at Lexington. The boys will all be glad to know that he will attend the coming meeting.

Tom Cannon has gone from Decatur, Ala., to St. Louis and is conducting a News Letter Syndicate. In his first letter he says Uncle Bob Harrison, formerly of the Henderson News, is writing a book of personal reminiscences.

The Judicial Redistricting Committee has completed its work and a bill has been introduced embodying its conclusions. Christiansen and with Caloway, Tracy and others, and if necessary a Democratic cause will be called to put the work through.

The Henderson Reporter has been purchased by a syndicate of Republican politicians who have incorporated the "Henderson Daily Journal Company." Its plan is to start a red-hot newspaper about the time that Lige Sabine, who is the best man in the enterprise, becomes the Republican candidate for Congress.

Cleveland has written a letter saying that he would have to have the party do the right thing and that party leadership should be held paramount to any one's aspiration. In his southern speeches Hill repeatedly expressed the same sentiments and it looks like the consistent thing for those rival leaders to do is to get together and do a little harmonizing themselves.

The Senate has passed a bill to apply to the habit small boys have of stretching wires, strings, etc. across roads and pathways. It makes injuries from such causes, to men or boys, a felony punishable by death in the county where it occurs. If such injuries result fatally to any person the crime becomes murder with the death penalty attached. In view of these business-like provisions, the string joke will lose much of its liveliness to the mischievous small boy.

Louis Blakely, in the Newport Journal, is a loyal and effective work for Senator Carlisle. As long as the Cleveland boys have the right of way, it is useless to disguise the fact that the Kentucky candidate has not the ghost of a chance. If, however, for any reason Mr. Carlisle should desire to be a candidate before the convention, who more than Senator Carlisle would represent the great issue of tariff reform upon which we are to win or lose? If the nomination comes west, there is no better material to offer than the Journal's candidate.
He would be the natural leader of Cleveland's strength.

It is announced by intimate friends of Hon. L. A. Spalding that he has decided not to be a candidate for Congress this year. This leaves only one probable opponent to Capt. Ellis unknown from any other source.
Capt. Ellis has to make a new home now and arrive at this conclusion. "Ellis will have a walk over for the Democratic nomination and will wallow the Republican candidate and People's party candidate, one or both, if there are two opponents. In November in every election I have seen Ellis' name has been mentioned as an unfortunate and unlucky demand that the next night universal demand for his candidacy and the consequent willingness of other aspirants to stand aside until another time."

Hon Jas. A. McKenzie has accepted an invitation to make a speech at the Scotch-Irish Congress at Atlanta May 3, and it goes without saying that he will do well. His connection with the World's Fair has given him an orator and to make a reputation as an after-dinner speaker that satifies him to rank with Chancery, M.
Dewey. As Mr. McKenzie is Scotch on one side and Irish on the other, his selection as one of the orators of the occasion is an exceptionally happy one.

Diseases Can't Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the body.
The disease can only be cured externally, that is to say, by constitutional means. Diseases is caused by an infirmed condition of the nervous system of the entire body. When this state of things inflamed you have a rumbling sound or impeded hearing, and the disease is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tumultuous condition removed, the fever will be dangerous, for unless this case out of the body are caused by constitutional change, which is nothing but infirmed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Disease, (caused by any one of the above,) that we cannot cure by local applications.

The medical fraternity, backed up by carefully compiled statistics, is one of the most important factors in any state of society. It is admitted that a man's state of health is the best measure of his social position, and that one of the best ways to improve the health of a people is not offered for sale until it is old and thoroughly matured. Sold by J. W. Smith, and W. R. Long, Hopkinsville, Ky.

The Circus April 26.

Orton's show due here on the 26th inst. the Mendota, Ill., Reporter says:

"Miss Orton's East Road Circus, Museum, Menagerie and Hippodrome were in town Monday, and Mendota never was so crowded with its neighboring population and world to see than yesterday. The circus was a great success, and the audience was to see what proved to be the greatest show of modern times.
Each department was so very complete in its vastness that the marvel is, how so much can be gotten together and exhibited for so little money.
The trick elephant and trick ponies and world worth more to see than the price of admission. Every feature is of the best, and the whole affair is moral and refined as possible to please the most fastidious.
The whole outfit is in the middle and a general lavishing of the whole line, after drain tires.
The first day of the circus was Monday night and continued until Saturday morning.

Trouble in the Fairview School.
Prof. Lindsey, principal of the Fairview school, administered corporal punishment to one of his pupils, a son of Mr. J. W. Wilkes, a few days ago, for writing obscene language on a slate and passing it to one of the girl pupils. Mr. Wilkes wrote out a statement and had Prof. Lindsey arrested and tried for assault. At the trial a verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury and Prof. Lindsey was further vindicated by a citizens' meeting, composed of patrons and friends of the school, which adopted resolutions endorsing the action of the jury in the following emphatic language:

Resolved that we have utmost confidence in the ability, honesty of purpose and impartiality of the said Prof. Lindsey and that he be exonerated from all accusations of assault. We believe that he uses the best means within his reach to cultivate the intellect, to develop all the good and eradicate all the bad in the children entrusted to his care.

Resolved, that we think it duty for the school and the fair name of our community to thus publicly endorse the action of our teacher and the jury.

Resolved, that we tender a vote of thanks to Mr. Wm. B. Howell, of the Hopkinsville bar, who so ably defended Prof. Lindsey and the good name of the citizens of our town and vicinity against all such conduct in our schools or community.

Resolved, that in view of these resolutions we return to the Kennerian, with the request that the editor publish same. Signed, Owen Clark, Mr. R. G. Baynham, of Grayce, has bought an interest in the drug store of W. T. Keats, at that place, and in the future the firm name will be Keats & Baynham. Mr. Keats has only recently moved to Grayce but has built up a good trade and the addition of Mr. Baynham will doubtless greatly died fair to live several years longer.

Miss Kate Webb, of Paducah, Ky., who is visiting Miss Inn Whifford, of Clarksville, Tuesday morning, was a narrow escape from death at Clarksville. Tuesday morning while driving with Mr.
Will Parker, she became frightened and ran away, throwing the occupant of the buggy out on the pike. Miss Webb fell on her face and was stunned, remaining unconscious for some time. Her face was badly injured, but no bones were broken. Mr. Payne escaped with a few bruises.
